

Daughter-Card Structural Support

ABSTRACT

5 A method and apparatus to provide structural support to one or more daughter-cards attached to a motherboard substrate. One embodiment of the invention involves a method to assemble a daughter-card support to a motherboard. A second embodiment of the invention involves a method to fabricate a daughter-card support. A third embodiment of the invention involves an assembled motherboard substrate with a daughter-card support.

10

SCANNED # 24